

Leading Recruitment Process Outsourcing (RPO) provider Quintegra Resourcing extends its global reach by establishing a new research and sourcing center in India 's capital.

Indianapolis, IN (PR Web) July 28, 2008 - Quintegra Resourcing, a leading global provider of recruitment process outsourcing services, today announced that it had opened a new research and sourcing center in New Delhi, India to serve its US, Canadian and UK clients as well as to provide an expansion base into the rapidly growing Indian RPO marketplace.

Quintegra was one of the pioneers of Recruitment Process Outsourcing in the US , and over the last decade has served many leading companies domestically and internationally with its proprietary RPO methodologies and technologies.

The office is staffed with seasoned Indian research and sourcing professionals under the leadership of Manish Singh, a principal with Quintegra's local partner Mancor Consulting Services Pvt. Ltd. The knowledge and technology transfer is being provided by Quintegra's Kansas City , KS and Orlando , FL offices respectively under the leadership of Jay Floersch.

"Opening a research and sourcing center in India will provide improved efficiencies and quality in our candidate sourcing and allow us the opportunity to expand our services to the India market ," said Mark Clevenger, President of Quintegra Resourcing, "South Asia, led by India, created the largest number of global net jobs (28%) in 2007; by contrast East Asia, led by China, Japan, Korea - generated much fewer (16%), and the developed economies only 4%." Clevenger added, "All indications are that India is the place for growing companies like Quintegra to be and we believe that we bring a quite different RPO solution to the Region than currently available there."

Additional staff will be located in key markets throughout India including Mumbai and Hyderabad . As the business builds through the balance of 2008, Quintegra Resourcing will be well positioned to build strong, supportive relationships and to provide comprehensive RPO services to customers throughout India and South Asia .

The Quintegra Resourcing regional headquarters is located at 27H, 2nd Floor, Jia Sarai, Hauz Khas, New Delhi – 110016.
